DAILY BULLETIN

Wednesday, June 5, 2019: A.M. & P.M.

Day 181 of 181

TODAY'S DAILY CTE FUN FACT: From our Assistant Director: Principal, Dr. Frioni: Charles A. Prosser was the Father of vocational and technical education in the United States and was the primary architect of the 1917 Smith-Hughes Act, which made career and technical education standard in public school systems across the country. Thank you, Dr. Prosser!

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

- (A.M. ONLY) Instructors: Students from all A.M. sending high schools are in attendance this morning, except all excused seniors and students already on summer break.
- (P.M. ONLY) Instructors: Students from all P.M. sending high schools are in attendance this afternoon, except for all excused seniors and students already on summer break.
- Today is the last day of tech for the 2018-2019 school year.
- Steel Center Yearbooks are for sale. The cost is $10. Order forms are available in Advertising and Design. If yearbooks are not completed by today, they will be mailed home.
- (A.M. ONLY) Faculty and staff are reminded of the following:
 - Be sure to finalize all documents in PAETEP.
 - Continue working on your end-of-year checklists. If you have questions, see Dr. Frioni.
 - Tomorrow, Thursday, June 6 is the last contractual day for instructors and instructional aides. Don't forget about the end-of-year potluck luncheon. Please sign up.

HAVE A GREAT SUMMER, STEEL CENTER STUDENTS!
